To Whom It May Concern:

The Cleaning Source has been doing business with Summit Restoration since the day they started and has been associated with Will Dealachaei for many years before that. Summit is proactive in the best education for all there company representatives. They strive for the best quality work and customer service in the restoration industry here in Las Vegas. Their personal integrity in doing the best possible work is refreshing in the business place today.

We support Summit by supplying them with their equipment and supplies they need for all types of different jobs from water extraction equipment to heavy duty deodorization products for those odd jobs and everything in between.

Sincerely
